Rosa: What? The title of the essay Exactly.

Student B: I've got it here. Assess the two main methods of collecting daughter in social science research

Rosa: And. How much do we need to write?

Student B: q22 1500 words? That's for the essay. Then, for the second part of the assignment, we have to choose one method of data collection and carry out a small-scale study making appropriate use of the method chosen together data from a least q23 five subjects.

Rosa: And then we have to write a report on the study.

Student A: That's right of q24 3000 to 4000 words.

Rosa: Did you get us far as discussing which form of data collection we should go for questionnaire or interview, isn't it?

Student B: Yeah. I think we should use a questionnaire. It'll be so much less time-consuming than organizing interviews. I reckon. Once we've agreed on the wording on what we only have to send it out and wait for the response is Rosa: Yes. I think it probably would be quicker. But what did that article he gave us last week say about the quality of data from questionnaires?

Student B: I'm pretty sure it recommended questionnaire is a sort of highly reliable data. As long as you designed the questionnaire properly in the first place, the doctor will be fine.

Choose TWO letters from A - E for your answer.

What TWO disadvantages of the questionnaire form of data collection do the students discuss?

☐ A The data is sometimes invalid.

☐ B Too few people may respond.

☐ C It is less likely to reveal the unexpected.

☐ D It can only be used with literate populations.

☐ E There is a delay between the distribution and return of questionnaires.

Questions 27 - 30

Type NO MORE THAN THREE WORDS OR A NUMBER for each answer.

AUTHOR	TITLE	PUBLISHER	YEAR OF PUBLICATION
27 Type correct answers here	"Sample Surveys in Social Science Research"
Bell	28 Type correct answers here.	29 Type correct answers here.
Wilson	"Interviews that work"	Oxford University Press	30 Type correct answers here.

Rosa: No, I'm sure it talked about drawbacks as well, didn't it? q25 Something about the response, Reed. And the problems you get of it's too low.

Student B: Yeah, but we only need doctor from five subjects anyway.

Rosa: I suppose so. Another drawback. q26 I remember it mentioned was that questionnaire data tends not to reveal anything unexpected because it is limited to the questions fixed in advance by the researcher.

Student B: Come on, Rosa. This is only a practice. It's not meant to be really research, is it?

Rosa: Whoa. I sure about that. Maybe you'd better go through the article again, just to be sure. Can you remember what it was called Student B: Sample surveys and social science research? I think my q27 Mehta

Rosa: M E H T A.

Student B: Yeah, and he also recommended a more recent book called It's a q28 Survey Research by Bell. I think it's in that series published by q29 London University.

Student A: And if we try to use interviews instead, I saw a book in the departmental library. That'll be helpful. It's called interviews that work by Wilson, published in Oxford in q30 1988

Rosa: Right? Oh, I've got a tutorial now. Can we meet up again later this week? What about Friday morning

Student A: Suits? May 11 o'clock.

Rosa: Fine.

Student B: Before Friday. I think we should all look through the reading list.
